

Sandrine Giroud

Partner, Geneva

Sandrine specialises in domestic and international litigation, with a focus on commercial and financial disputes, private client disputes, fraud and asset recovery, white collar crime, cross-border insolvency proceedings, mutual legal assistance in civil and criminal matters and international sanctions.

Hailed as a “fantastic choice” for asset recovery in Switzerland in Who’s Who Thought Leaders, Asset Recovery, 2023, Sandrine routinely acts for companies and individuals in the recovery and protection of their assets through freezing orders, protective briefs or the enforcement of foreign judgements and awards. She is particularly experienced in sensitive matters requiring reputation and media management. Sandrine is currently President of the Geneva Bar Association (ODA).

In addition, Sandrine has strong expertise in public international law, including immunity issues, as well as in business and human rights and ESG matters, and regularly advises international organisations and companies on these issues.

Her areas of practice also include art and cultural property law. She is a trusted counsel to collectors, art market professionals and museums alike, for all art-related disputes and transactional matters, including sale and lending agreements, loans to museums, fraud, authenticity and restitution matters.
