First edition of the guide to internal investigations in Switzerland

LALIVE Partner Simone Nadelhofer has co-edited the definitive handbook on internal investigations in Switzerland with Claudio Bazzani and Reto Ferrari-Visca of Homburger.

Published on 23 May by Helbing Lichtenhahn Verlag, this comprehensive publication presents practical guidance to law firms, in-house counsel and authorities on the pertinent issues that inevitably arise in domestic and cross-border investigations. The distinguished authors, including LALIVE Partners Simone Nadelhofer, Daniel Lucien Bühr and Associates Jonathon E. Boroski and Andrea Florin, provide key insight on planning and conducting internal investigations, taking the necessary organizational measures and outline the legal framework for cooperating with domestic and foreign authorities in cross-border investigations.

Internal investigations can be a crucial aspect of Good Corporate Governance and have become increasingly relevant in recent years. The handbook applies to both international and domestic companies and organisations of different sizes and from various sectors.
