A short analysis of the protections offered to Turkish investments under international law

This series of articles focuses on the countries and regions in which Turkish investors invest in, considering the data released by Turkish Ministry of Commerce and UNCTAD. The articles provide a short analysis of the protections offered to Turkish investments under the bilateral investment treaties (BITs) which Turkey has with these countries.

The first article of the series discusses the regions and countries relevant to Turkish investors. Further it provides a short analysis of the Turkish BITs with three EU countries, namely the Netherlands, Austria and Malta. Future articles of the series will look at other relevant BITs.
