9:00 AM - 9:30 AM	Welcome coffee and registration
9:30 AM - 9:40 AM	Chairs' opening remarks
9:40 AM - 10:10 AM	Keynote address
10:10 AM - 11:10 AM	Selecting the right model in an age of uncertainty

Damages presentations have always had to deal with an element of uncertainty about whether their assumptions hold true. In an era of high-inflation and other disturbing global events it seems we may have reached a tipping point. Can international arbitration's preferred current model, DCF, account for these unprecedented times? If not, what options are there? And how easy would it be to coax arbitrators and tribunals from familiar ground? Is there any hope from the past? Afterall, DCF was new once.

In the following session, the panellists are expected to cover:

- The credibility of DCF
- Real option strategy
- Project valuation vs business and company valuation
- Identifying risk
- The market volatility when calculating damages
- Will education from alternative academic disciplines other than legal become better equipped in understanding these new models?

11:10 AM - 11:40 AM	Coffee break
11:40 AM - 12:40 PM	Causation and legal questions

The flip side of uncertain times is the greater pressure on questions surrounding causation and threshold before it reaches the presentation of experts. What developments have there been in the rules around causation? And what bearing will these developments have on how damage cases are assessed?
